Sometimes I think it looks fun to know how to sing, it is something productive and that many people like to appreciate, sometimes I want to learn to sing since it is a very good and interesting talent, although later I remember that I like more to play video games and I end up in the Same old, playing for even more fun