At the supermarket

- Hey, are you busy?
- Not really, why?
- I have to buy some things here in the supermarket. Can you come with me?
- Ok, but we have to hurry because I have little time to help you
- First, I need some bread and some eggs.
- Do you want some potatoes?
- No, I don't want any potatoes. I'm trying to lose weight.
- ¡Oh, come on! Potatoes are fantastic.
- Ok, but only a few.
- What else do you need?
- I need some Salmon and a little sugar.

At the travel agency

Jenny: Good afternoon, Sir.

Travel Agent: Good afternoon, Miss. May I help you?

Jenny: Yes, I need information about flights to Thailand.

Travel Agent: Are you going on a pleasure or a business trip?

Jenny: I will meet my sister there. We will spend our vacation in a figure skating club.

Travel Agent: That sounds like fun. I bet it will be a great experience for you! When Are you planning to travel?

Jenny: On May 21st and I'll be back on August 5th.

Travel Agent: Well, today is your lucky day. We have a special price with FBT-Air.

Jenny: Good news! How much is the ticket?

Travel Agent: Do you want a one way or a round-trip ticket?

Jenny: Round-trip.

Travel Agent: That will be $1.200.

Jenny: It's perfect, but...is it a non-stop flight?

Travel Agent: No, it has stopovers, but I don't think it'll be a problem, unless you can't stay in Hong Kong for one night.

Jenny: It won't be a problem at all. As a matter of fact, I have some friends in Hong Kong.

Travel Agent: Great! Excuse me, how will you pay for the ticket?

Jenny: I'll pay with my credit card.

Travel Agent: All right!
