Angela Natareno.

Script.

When I was little, I met someone special who was always spying on me to make me behave well, not be afraid and do things well.

He always accompanies me in everything and also taught me to read and write.

I can't see him, I only know that he is an ogre and he has become my best friend.

He always spies on me and likes me to do things well, especially to study. With him I learned many things and I learned to share everything with him and his friends.

But yes, he doesn't like me to stop studying and he is always spying on my grades, he loves it when I have good grades, he is always happy with my achievements.

He is an ogre who spies on me because he loves me and wants the best for me.

He is an ogre who spies on me because he loves me and wants the best for me.

He is an ogre and my best friend.
