Script.

My best friend is a nervous chicken named Roy, who likes to travel around the world. He knows many amazing places.

He has no money, but when he goes to travel, the other chickens pay him to sing in the mornings. so they don't have to get up early.

He is a very young chicken and still doesn't sing well.

But on his last trip, he brought an audio of a rooster crowing and he practices all night in a locked room, so as not to wake anyone up before the time, but his idea has not worked.

There have been several mornings when everything has been very quiet and no one gets up early.

All because of crazy Roy, because he was practicing his singing at night and fell asleep when he had to sing.

And he is very sad, because his next trip is tomorrow and he couldn't raise money

Since he is my best friend, I decided yesterday that I would accompany him all night so he wouldn't fall asleep.

And so he could earn a little money and take his trip.

But it didn't work, we both fell asleep, the worst thing was that I didn't get to school on time and I couldn't go to class.
