The Rabbit and the Carrot

- ❖ Once upon a time there was a rabbit who felt lonely and misunderstood because he didn't eat carrots because he didn't like them, the rabbit lived surrounded by other rabbits who ate carrots every day, stole carrots or simply took them to the burrow where they lived. That's how all the rabbits were except him, he didn't like carrots.
- ❖ The rabbit also did not have many friends or none because the rabbit was a little different from the others, he did not share the same tastes, so he was always alone.
- ❖ One day they had a carrot cake feast and a farmer gave them all the carrots from his harvest so that the rabbits would have their good carrot feast, but the rabbit that didn't eat carrots was still lonely even though I lived with many rabbits and carrots were not lacking, the rabbit did not find many friends and they did not look like the rest of the rabbits that if they ate carrots every day.
- ❖ During that feast with carrot cake the rabbit went to the forest for a walk since he did not like carrots and everyone at the feast ate carrot cakes and carrots.
- ❖ The rabbit was looking for other things like friends and other interests and other things to eat, inside the bisque he found a garden with some vegetables, tomatoes, onions, peppers and a single carrot that was as lonely as the rabbit
- ❖ When the rabbit approaches the carrot, she thought that she would eat it, because rabbits eat carrots, but it didn't, and she said, will you eat me? And the rabbit replies: No! I don't eat carrots and I also feel very lonely and I need a friend. Do you want to be my friend?

- ❖ The very doubtful carrot doesn't believe him and says, I don't believe you! Leave away! And the carrot as she could hid.
- ❖ The rabbit gets very sad and went on his way, but suddenly, he realizes that the carrot was following him and was hiding behind the trees, the rabbit carefully stopped and suddenly stopped to wait for the rabbit. carrot, when the carrot is discovered, the rabbit says: do you want to come with me and be my friend?
- ❖ The carrot tells him: -I'll be your friend if you promise not to eat me- and so little by little they talked together through the great forest and the orchard, carrot and the rabbit and they realized that they would never feel alone again and they were friends forever.
- ❖ Rabbit and carrot realized that they would never feel alone anymore and that despite their nature of the rabbit eating carrots and carrots being afraid of being eaten, there were different rabbits and carrots that could be friends and that they would have each other as friends.
