One day, I was doing my homework listening to my favorite music and suddenly I had a daydream. I dreamed that I was at the concert of my favorite group. I was so excited that I started singing the songs.

When I hear my mom who was talking to me, asking me if I had finished my homework yet.

Worried, I realized that I was daydreaming. And for singing without finishing my homework, my mom punished me by forbidding me to listen to music for a week.
