

There is a boy at school that I like. My best friend knows everything. Whenever he gets close, he compliments him on the way you dress. I hide behind my friend's back, very nervous. Which says hey I like your new shoes or that jacket looks good on you.